

In the Abstract:

The invention relates to thermosensitive polymers which contain magnetic and/or metallic colloids and whose physical structure can be altered through magnetic induction or through the supply of energy. The invention also relates, ~~as well as~~ to processes for ~~[[their]]~~ the production of such thermosensitive polymers, and the use of such polymers for diagnostic and therapeutic purposes.